Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 29 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
A wet morning, but brighter later. Feeling mild.

Today:
A dry start in the north, but some wet and windy weather in the south will quickly spread across the region, with the rain turning heavy and persistent at times. It will turn drier and brighter later and feeling mild. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Tonight:
This evening will remain dry with some clear spells, but overnight will see further rain move in from the west. Remaining breezy but mild. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Thursday:
A rather cloudy and breezy day, with outbreaks of rain, which will turn increasingly persistent later on in the day. Feeling very mild once again. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Drier in the south on New Year's Eve, but rain lingering in the north. Brighter with some showers on New Year's Day, before rain returns later on Sunday. Staying mild.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.